Let There Be Light.

Bread cast upon the waters returns after many days, and after many nights of experiment, the electric light turned up in our city last evening. Our people had been looking for it so frequently and so frequently had been disappointed that they began to regard the electric light as a delusion and a snare.

Law-Tennis Widely Popular.

The London Herald says: "Law-tennis is unnecessary to say, has been naturalized from one end of the continent to the other, and may probably now claim to be the most cosmopolitan game in existence. French tennis do not seem to quite as kindly as the nymphs of the Fatherland, or attain in it the same degree of proficiency. On the other hand, it is the rarest thing in the world to see a German youth who can vie successfully with the prowess of the French tennis player. There are, however, comparably the best players—out of England—of both sexes, are, we are informed on the highest authority, to be found among the Austrians."

How Mr. Blaine Reconciled Our Foreign Guests.

An illustration of Secretary Blaine's delicate tact and diplomacy, the correspondent of the New York Herald relates that during the trip of the City of Catskill, which conveyed Secretary Blaine and the French and German guests to Yorktown, there was a noticeable conclusion between the representatives of the two nationalities. There was perfect courtesy on both sides, although the French looked gloomy, while the Germans were jolly and gay.

Notable Sayings of Notable Men.

"Pirates are the attorneys of the sea."—Byron. "I am the pirate of the Police Court."—Guy Thompson. "I never knew that lawyers were so scarce before."—George Scoville. "The motto of a young man should ever be 'Excelsior.'"—Byron Andrews. "If it is not right do not do it; if it is not true do not say it."—Charley Hardie. "The mosquito is a much abused insect. Everybody must have a slap at him."—Sam. Dock.

The Synod of Baltimore.

This ecclesiastical body will begin its annual session this evening at Camden, Md. The meeting, which will be held in the Presbyterian church, Rev. Mr. Moffatt, pastor, will be formally opened with a sermon by the retiring moderator, Rev. W. H. Coyle, of Haverhill, N. H. The synod consists of all the ministers and ruling elders from each church in the presbyteries of Baltimore, New Castle, Rio de Janeiro and Washington city, numbering, according to the last annual report to the General Assembly, 14 presbyteries, 14 ministers and 147 churches, representing 16,511 communicants and 19,661 Sunday school scholars. The funds reported last year, raised for all church purposes, was $243,280. The synod is the representative body of the Church with which this synod is connected, the synod is an appellate court, intermediate between the presbytery and the General Assembly, which latter body in all cases the court of final resort, as the common bond of all the regular congregations. But at the last General Assembly it was officially declared that the presbytery had adopted a new constitutional rule which makes the synod the final court in all cases of appeal or complaint involving a doctrinal question or a constitutional principle. In connection with this, another measure has been adopted making the bounds of the synods, as far as may be, conform to State lines. This will be attended with two results, first, the number of synods (now thirty-eight) will be reduced to about twenty; and, secondly, the six new synods of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa must cease to be original bodies, as all their members will be transferred to the synods of their respective States. He was asked by the party to examine the paper after it had been delivered to Gen. Eckert in his presence. He did examine it and seeing that the copy of the contract failed to disclose several features which were entirely omitted in such a paper, as for instance, the security for its performance, who were the custodians of the money and securities, and the amount of securities issued, made a memorandum of the same, and called attention to the same, with the copy, was afterward delivered to me. No paper of the Mutual Union Telegraph Company is so far as is known to me, and none is or has been in my possession, containing a copy of the contract with which can be so considered, and to which I believe myself to be fully entitled.

Mrs. Garfield's Sorrow—The Nation's Sin.

Naturally all eyes follow the dear afflicted wife and family of the late President to their home in Mentor. In the seclusion of this home, she, who recently occupied the highest position in the world, is to-day in lonely widowhood. In her anguish it is hard to see a silver lining to the cloud which overshadows her. Still the consciousness that her husband fell in the discharge of a duty which he should have performed, and that she should be comforted by the thought that prayer ascends from many a home all over the land for the fatherless is also a solace in the trying hour. It is creditable that such ample provision has been made for herself and family, and that she will remove all anxiety in regard to the future.

How the Western Union Got Hold of the Mutual Union's Contract.

The following letter was obtained yesterday evening, and is a reply to the communication published in various papers yesterday morning:

NEW YORK CITY, October 20.

Dr. Dr. Norein Green, President Western Union Telegraph Company, My dear Sir:

Dear Sir: The Mutual Union Telegraph Company has published a letter to your company containing averments in which I am involved, and in which the attempt is made to connect your company with certain persons of the city of Washington, D. C., and to state that having been for many years interested in Canadian telegraph matters, and being now president of an organization which embraces all the existing lines in Canada, I was naturally concerned at the proposition of the Mutual Union Telegraph Company, under the guise of the Canada Mutual Company, to add to the number of telegraph lines in the Dominion, already more than sufficient for the wants of the public. I also reason to believe that the proposed line was about to be constructed under a contract of such a nature that if its provisions were fully and certainly known no such subscriptions could be made as were necessary to enable the public to purchase the same, and that person not connected either with the Mutual Union Telegraph Company or with its contractors, voluntarily offered to preserve a copy of the contract. Such contracts are of course, by their terms, and are invariably, accessible to all subscribers to the funds of such companies, who certainly have everywhere the right to know the terms on which their money is to be paid out. I was at the same time the owner of stock in the Mutual Union Telegraph Company, and I am entitled to know its affairs. Friends of mine, however, who were large subscribers to the bonds of that company, had in vain endeavored to learn upon what terms the lines of the company were being built. Under these circumstances I agreed to provide the person who had offered me a copy of the contract for such a copy without inquiring as to where he got it. I desired to take it to Canada with me and he did not deliver it to me, but as I was leaving he handed it to me, and asking where it should be sent. I then sent him written instructions to take it to Gen. Eckert, and to pay him the price of the same, if it was not returned to me. It was so taken to Gen. Eckert, who simply signed, without scrutiny, a receipt handed to him with the paper. The payment was made for my account, and afterward repaid by me. In regarding the contract, I was informed that Gen. Eckert merely did a friendly act for me in my absence and without any previous knowledge or acquaintance with the matter, however. As for Mr. Bates, his name does not appear in the contract. He was asked by the party to examine the paper after it had been delivered to Gen. Eckert in his presence. He did examine it and seeing that the copy of the contract failed to disclose several features which were entirely omitted in such a paper, as for instance, the security for its performance, who were the custodians of the money and securities, and the amount of securities issued, made a memorandum of the same, and called attention to the same, with the copy, was afterward delivered to me. No paper of the Mutual Union Telegraph Company is so far as is known to me, and none is or has been in my possession, containing a copy of the contract with which can be so considered, and to which I believe myself to be fully entitled.

The Bituminous Coal Trade.

While the Cumberland coal trade is hampered by low water in the canal, the producers of bituminous coal in the Clearfield district of Pennsylvania are also troubled in getting their black diamonds to market. The contracts for supplying soft coal in Philadelphia are greater than can be filled with Clearfield coal, owing to the scarcity of cars, and contractors are compelled to purchase Cumberland coal to supply the deficiency. One Philadelphia firm lost $500 by the difference in the cost of the two coals. In several cases vessels loaded to be sent to Philadelphia, and which were to be secured in Baltimore to freight soft coal to foreign ports, because the Clearfield coal could not be obtained in Philadelphia. The Pennsylvania Railroad is adding to the number of coal-cars as rapidly as possible, and every car and locomotive upon the road is actively employed. The Reading Railroad is using many coal-cars to supply manufacturers along their road who use soft coal. The Cambria Iron Company has 1,000 tons of rails awaiting transportation to the new route to Chicago, and the shipment cannot be made for want of cars.

"Aldermen Dairy Wagons."

Fresh Aldermen butter, churned every morning and delivered in J. B. Ward's carts, at 45c per lb. Also, cottage cheese, 5c per ball; butter milk, 5c per quart; and sweet milk, 5c per quart.

The Land Troubles in Ireland.

The proclamation against the Land League, issued from London, yesterday, warns all persons that the Irish National League, which is a body of persons who might be called, is an unlawful and criminal association, and that all meetings to carry out or promote its designs or purposes are unlawful and criminal, and will be prevented and dispersed by force. The proclamation warns the Queen's subjects connected with the League to disconnect themselves from it, and to abstain from giving any further countenance to it. All the powers and resources at the government's disposal are to be employed to enforce the law, and the execution of the law is to be carried out with the utmost strictness. It calls upon all loyal subjects to uphold and maintain the authority of the law and the supremacy of the Queen in Ireland.

The Way to Pay the Debt.

Inasmuch as the Virginia Readjusters are casting about for some scheme to pay the debt of the State without expense to the people, a prominent gentleman in this city recommends that they send for Ohio's crazy philosopher, and let him deal with them on the subject. Free, on one occasion in a speech, said: " gentlemen, I will tell you the best device to pay off the national debt without expense to the Government. It is to let the landowners of occupied public domain to the Indians; then compel all creditors of the nation to look to the Indians for payment. Steal back the lands from the Indians as we have always done before, and the debt is paid." It is said that the landowners are shortly revise their platform and insert in the crazy Free's plan. It is a plan worthy the Readjusters.

Pittsburg Diocese Episcopal Church.

At the session of the Pittsburg (Pa.) diocese Episcopal Church convention yesterday the lay delegates confirmed the election of Rev. Dr. Conrad Whitehead as bishop of the Pittsburg diocese, to succeed the late bishop Kerfoot. Dr. Whitehead is a native of New Jersey. He graduated at Union College, Schenectady, N. Y., and from the Episcopal Divinity School at Philadelphia. For many years he has been a missionary in the West, but for a number of years he has been rector of the Church of Nativity at Bethlehem. He is about 45 years of age.

Yacht Race Yesterday.

The Gracie, Mischief and Pocatons, first-class sloops of the New York Yacht Club, started on their race yesterday at 10 miles to the eastward of the windward of Sandy Hook. The Pocatons shot out with a mishap to her rigging and turned back. The Gracie turned the buoy ahead of the Mischief and came home in the lead, until impeded by a tug-boat, when she crossed her bow. The Mischief won on a time allowance.

A Fast of One Hundred and Seven Days.

Terence Conolly, the noted faster of Newton, Sussex County, N. J., yesterday afternoon took a heavy dinner, the first solid food which he had passed in his hundred and seven days. He commenced to fast July 4, for the benefit of his health, as he was suffering from consumption. He claims his health has been improved by his long abstinence from food.
